Then the average of the spectral responses is found and the subsequent conclusion is drawn from the average. The basic disadvantage of this approach is that only the mean value is considered. The potential information in the variance and covariance is neglected and lost. The second method is empirical in that a scanner with many spectral bands is constructed, and the selection of the bands is done experimentally. The studies have been done with agriculture cover types 7 , forest covers 8 , and geological applications 9 . The main advantage of the empirical method is the retaining of the information in the variations about the mean. The correlation is considered in the feature design process. However, the spectral sampling is crude and incomplete for representing the whole spectrum. Simulation methods have been developed...

Reviews

Basically no terms to clarify. It is actually written in basic terms rather than confusing. I found out this ebook from my dad and I suggested this book to find out.
