Strategic Book Publishing, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 226 x 150 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . In this stunning novel, premonitions or gut feelings-the inherent knowing without rational basis-play a starring role. Lynn Conley, a litigation paralegal, experiences this phenomenon recurrently. Visions of accidents and murders invade her mind far too often, creating chaos in her life. Sheri Noland, a young lawyer waiting for the results of her bar exam, is shaken by her husband s recent behavior. Terrified by a conversation overheard at a party, she seeks the advice of a psychic. The old woman warns Sheri not to go home. But disbelieving, Sheri signs her own death warrant when she opens her front door. When Lynn s computer monitor goes blank, she thinks it is malfunctioning. On the screen she sees a young woman bound and gagged. She watches with apprehension hoping the vision will go away. The hopelessness Lynn sees in the woman s eyes stirs a feeling deep within her soul that she does not understand. A week later, Lynn sees the woman s face on the evening news. Sheri Noland has been abducted from her home in a small town northeast of Atlanta. Lynn s prophetic visions continue, as horrifying pieces of the puzzle converge with Sheri s voice guiding her. Lynn s home is ransacked and she receives threatening telephone calls, but she cannot quit. About the Author: Joy Ratcliff Cagle is a litigation paralegal with a law firm by day and a writer by night. She grew up in a small town in Oklahoma, where Air Force jets flew overhead and tornados followed close behind. She now lives in Atlanta. Presumption of Death is a plea to people from all walks of life to...
